

1. Broadband over Power Lines (BPL) will interfere with voice and data radio communications that the American people rely on for security, business, and pleasure. To me it is clear that it isn't in our national interests to do this. 2. With the obvious problems that we already have in the power grid, why levy communications requirements on power lines beyond their design specifications and intended use?